An Afternoon of Fun and Resilience: Community Gathers for Tarentum's Second Chance Trick-or-Treat

Tarentum, PA—The community organized a spirited and joyful afternoon on November 2 for a second chance Trick-or-Treat in the Park, with a fantastic turnout of families and children who came together to celebrate Halloween. The event was a heartfelt second chance for kids throughout the region to enjoy the holiday after last week's unfortunate incident that left some children without their trick or treat. Thanks to the incredible efforts of local organizers Dawn Wyble and daughter Angel, dedicated volunteers, and first responders, the afternoon went off without a hitch, showcasing Tarentum's unique community spirit.

The community event at Tarentum Park provided a safe and lively environment for children to experience the thrill of trick-or-treating. Candy stations, a raffle, and seasonal decorations delighted the young and young at heart as local groups and a few businesses showed up with smiles and treats to share. Borough officials would like to thank everyone involved in making the afternoon possible, especially the volunteers who dedicated time and resources and the first responders who ensured everyone's safety throughout the event.

"This event exemplifies the resilience and unity that defines Tarentum," said Tarentum Borough Manager Dwight Boddorf. "Despite whatever challenges and adversity our community may face, we always rally together. Tarentum is full of wonderful people who care deeply about one another and work hard to create memorable moments like these for our children."

The Borough also extends a special thank you to the families who came out to enjoy the afternoon and everyone who contributed to its success. In true Tarentum fashion, the afternoon turned into a celebration of resilience and togetherness, with neighbors lifting each other up and creating a positive experience for all. As we look forward to future events, Tarentum remains committed to supporting its residents and finding ways to bring people together.
